

HARDEN KITE FLYER

Ian Burrell

Ian collects house-sized kites, rather than stamps! He enjoys travelling to kite festivals around Australia and meeting like-minded kite enthusiasts. Kite flying is relaxing.

As a kid he was fascinated with kites and used to make kites with brown paper and string. 28 years ago, in Canberra he brought a kite for the 1st time and never looked back.

A memorable kite experience is to see the joy and the expression on people's faces. His kites are also a fond reminder of his late wife Ruby, who had same enthusiasm for kite flying.

He has over 100's of kites of all shapes and sizes but all are his favorite. You can find Ian often flying at Canberra Arboretum.

A great beginner kite is a Delta, in a good open area. You never grow old flying kites, you grow old when you stop!
